

the sale was made before July 26, 1981. Because he owned and used the house as his principal residence for 5 out of the 8 years preceding the sale, under the transitional rule he may elect the section 121 exclusion.

Example (3). Taxpayer C lived with his son and daughter-in-law in a house owned by his son from 1973 through 1979. On January 1, 1980, he purchased this house and on July 31, 1982, he sold it. Although B used the property as his principal residence for more than 3 years, he is not entitled to make an election under section 121(a) in respect of such sale since he did not own the residence for a period aggregating 3 years during the 5 year period ending on the date of the sale.

Example (4). Taxpayer D, a college professor, purchased and moved into a house on January 1, 1980. He used the house as his principal residence continuously to February 1, 1982, on which date he went abroad for a 1-year sabbatical leave. During a portion of the period of leave the property was unoccupied and it was leased during the balance of the period. On March 1, 1983, 1 month after returning from such leave, he sold the house. Since his leave is not considered to be a short temporary absence for purposes of section 121(a), the period of such leave may not be included in determining whether D used the house as his principal residence for periods aggregating 3 years during the 5 year period ending on the date of the sale. Thus, D is not entitled to make an election under section 121(a) since he did not use the residence for the requisite period.

Example (5). Assume the same facts as in example (1) except that during the three summers from 1977 through 1979, A left his residence for a 2-month vacation each year. Although, in the 5 year period preceding the date of sale, the total time spent away from his residence on such vacations (6 months) plus the time spent away from such residence from January 1, 1980, to September 30, 1981 (21 months) exceeds 2 years, he may make an election under section 121(a) since the 2-month vacations are counted as periods of use in determining whether A used the residence for the requisite period.

§ 1.121-2 Limitations.

(a) Dollar limitation—(1) Amount excludable. Under section 121(a), an individual may exclude from gross income up to $100,000 of gain from the sale of his or her principal residence ($50,000 in the case of a separate return by a married individual).

(2) Example. The provisions of this paragraph are illustrated by the following example:

Example. Assume that A sells his principal residence for $160,800, that the amount realized is $160,400 (selling price reduced by selling expenses, described in paragraph (b)(4)(i) of § 1.1034-1, of $400); and that A's gain realized from the sale is $107,900 (amount realized reduced by adjusted basis of $52,500). The portion of the gain which is taxable is $7,900 ($107,900) - ($100,000). Thus $100,000 is the portion of the gain excludable from gross income pursuant to an election under section 121(a).

(b) Application to only one sale or exchange. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (c), a taxpayer may not make an election to exclude from gross income gain from the sale or exchange or a principal residence if there is in effect at the time the taxpayer wishes to make such election—

(i) An election made by the taxpayer, under section 121(a), in respect of any other sale or exchange of a residence, or

(ii) An election made by the taxpayer's spouse (such marital status to be determined at the time of the sale or exchange by the taxpayer, see paragraph (f) of § 1.121-5) under the provisions of section 121(a) in respect of any other sale or exchange of a residence (without regard to whether at the time of such sale or exchange such spouse was married to the taxpayer).

If the taxpayer and his spouse, before their marriage each owned and used a separate residence and if (after their marriage) both residences are sold, whether or not in a single transaction, an election under section 121(a) may be made with respect to a sale of either residence (but not with respect to both residences) if, at the time of sale, the age, ownership, and use requirements are met.

(2) The provisions of this paragraph are illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). While A and B are married, A sells his separately owned residence and makes an election under section 121(a) in respect of such sale. Pursuant to the requirement of section 121(c), B joins in such election. Subsequently, A and B are divorced and B married C. While B and C are married, C sells his residence. C is not entitled to make an election under section 121(a) since an election by B, his spouse, is in effect. It does not matter that B obtained no personal benefit from her election.

26 CFR Ch. I (4-1-01 Edition)

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that after the sale of C's residence, A and B, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (c) of §1.121-4, revoke their election. B and C, subject to the other provisions of this section, may then make an election with respect to any gain realized on the sale of C's residence.

Example (3). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that C marries B after C sells his residence but before he makes an election under section 121(a) with respect to any gain realized on such sale. C, if there is not in effect an election made by him under section 121(a) with respect to a prior sale, may make an election with respect to his sale since B does not have to join with him in such election. (In the case of a sale of property jointly held by husband and wife, see paragraph (a) of §1.121-5.)

(c) Additional election if prior sale was made on or before July 26, 1978. In the case of any sale or exchange after July 26, 1978, section 121 shall be applied by not taking into account any election made with respect to a sale or exchange on or before such date.

§ 1.121-3 Definitions.

(a) Principal residence. The term "principal residence" has the same meaning as in section 1034 (relating to sale or exchange of residence) and the regulations thereunder (see paragraph (c) (3) of §1.1034-1).

(b) Sale or exchange. A "sale or exchange" of a residence includes the destruction, theft, seizure, requisition, or condemnation of such residence.

(c) Gain realized. The term "gain realized" has the same meaning as in paragraph (b)(5) of §1.1034-1 (determined without regard to section 121(d) (7) and paragraph (g) of §1.121-5).

[T.D. 7614, 44 FR 24840, Apr. 27, 1979]

§ 1.121-4 Election.

(a) General rule. A taxpayer may make an election under section 121(a) in respect of a particular sale (or may revoke any such election) at any time before the expiration of the period for making a claim for credit or refund of Federal income tax for the taxable year in which the sale or exchange occurred. A taxpayer who is married at the time of the sale or exchange—

(1) May not make an election under section 121(a) unless his spouse (at the time of the sale or exchange) joins him in such election, and

(2) May not revoke an election previously made by him unless his spouse (at the time of the sale or exchange) joins him in the revocation.

If the taxpayer's spouse dies after the sale or exchange but before the expiration of the time for making an election under this section (and an election was not made by the husband and wife), the deceased spouse's personal representative (administrator or executor, etc.) must join with the taxpayer in making an election. For purposes of making an election under section 121(a), if no personal representative of the deceased spouse has been appointed at or before the time of making the election, then the surviving spouse shall be considered the personal representative of such deceased spouse. Any election previously made by the taxpayer may be revoked only if the personal representative of the taxpayer's deceased spouse joins in such revocation.

(b) Manner of making election. The election under section 121(a) shall be made in a statement signed by the taxpayer and (where required) by his spouse and attached to the taxpayer's income tax return, when filed, for the taxable year during which the sale or exchange of his residence occurs. (See Form 2119 and the accompanying instructions). The statement shall indicate that the taxpayer elects to exclude from his gross income for such year so much of the gain realized on such sale or exchange as may be excluded under section 121. The statement shall also show—

(1) The adjusted basis of the residence as of the date of disposition;

(2) The date of its acquisition;

(3) The date of its disposition;

(4) The names and social security numbers of the owners of the residence as of the date of sale, the form of such ownership, and the age and marital status (as determined under paragraph (f) of §1.121-5) of such owner or owners at the time of the sale;

(5) The duration of any absences (other than vacation or other seasonal absence) by such owner or owners during the 5 years (8 years under the transitional rule) preceding the sale; and
